Dear Friends:

I am heartened by your efforts in the fight against HIV/AIDS. Thank you for remembering our duty to love our neighbors and for answering the call to serve.

The danger of HIV/AIDS will be overcome by the compassion and decisive action of good-hearted Americans like you. By bringing hope and comfort to those in need, you are helping save lives and turn the tide against this cruel disease. Your kindness reflects the best of the American spirit and gives me great pride in our country and the people who live here.

Mrs. Bush and I send our best wishes for a safe and successful trip. May God bless you and your work, may God bless those who suffer, and may God continue to bless our great country.

Sincerely,
